amazing God we have to create all we see around us.

This week's old testament proverb is about God's creation and how God was here before anything else. We read how he settled the mountains in their place, and how he gave the sea its boundary of land. What an

Mr Dyson's Update

This final term always makes me slightly sad knowing that we are coming to the end of yet another whirlwind year in school. We have achieved so much, yet looking at the calendar, there is still so much more to do.

Welcome Back Mrs Wilson-Town!

Miss Hill went off on maternity last summer to have her baby. Not so long ago, she also celebrated getting married! Huge congratulations. Mrs Wilson-Town has begun her return to work and has been in today. She will be in every Friday until the final week where she will return full time.

Crew Member of the Week

- F- Ollie- Commander Kim for great problem solving in Maths.
1. Whole class- Sailor Sam - For persevering in his phonics.
 2. Junior - Lieutenant Louise for excellent thinking and answering.
 3. Rose - Captain Cain for excellent effort supporting her friend on the trip.
 5. Ella- Captain Cain - For excellent effort in her Maths learning on angles.
 6. Alexis - Admiral Ann - For super 'passive voice' sentences in English.

Fundraising

After over two years of disruption from Covid, these last few weeks in school have been incredible to see so much of the 'fun' coming back. The jubilee party (which we shared on our Facebook page) was just excellent. The cake sale followed and then this week on our first day back, we held a disco. Lots of children came, danced, sang and had a wonderful time. The following profits were raised:

- Cake sale- £220
- School disco- £255

Thank you to all of you for your contributions. These funds will go directly back on the children and the school.

Trips

Our year 2 and 3 children had a long but enjoyable day on Wednesday visiting the Eden Project. The only downside was that the shop is cashless so children were unable to spend their money. This always seems to be the best part of any trip! Thank you again for your contributions - the trips would not be able to go ahead without them! Yet again, our children's behaviour was excellent, and I am proud of how they always represent our school.

In school, on Wednesday, Year 5 had a visit from Millfields Inspired- a charity working to raise aspirations for the future in children. A group of student doctors came in to work alongside the children, talking to them about different aspects of medicine and the body. We had a great time listening to each other's heart beats and testing out our knowledge of the heart and skeletal system.

School Photos

On Thursday, we have our class photos being done. If it is normally a PE day, please can you send your child in uniform and they will be able to change into PE kit later in the day.

I hope you all have a lovely weekend,
God Bless,

Mr M Dyson
